literary depictions of dangerous reading explores how selected american and european literary texts from the classic to the contemporary represent reading as a dangerous endeavor it investigates how the texts being read or the conditions of reading may produce danger and considers the various qualities of the dangers depicted literal or metaphorical real or imagined minor or mortal whereas readers can readily imagine being depressed or bored by a book or even perhaps corrupted in some moral fashion readers typically assume that the mere words on a page cannot directly affect their health nevertheless literature can and does stage readings in which readers suffer actual harm from the magical or supernatural qualities of a given text such as impossibly dangerous reading fascinates the author argues by exaggerating the dangers that may inhabit certain real experiences of reading contemporary popular music provides the soundtrack for a host of recent novels but little critical attention has been paid to the intersection of these important art forms write in tune addresses this gap by offering the first full length study of the relationship between recent music and fiction with essays from an array of international scholars the collection focuses on how writers weave rock punk and jazz into their narratives both to develop characters and themes and to investigate various fan and celebrity cultures surrounding contemporary music write in tune covers major writers from america and england including don delillo jonathan franzen zadie smith and jim crace but it also explores how popular music culture is reflected in postcolonial latino and australian fiction ultimately the book brings critical awareness to the power of music in shaping contemporary culture and offers new perspectives on central issues of gender race and national identity
